Hidden Control Of News

--- By Dr. Gerald B. Winrod ---

JEWISH control of American news-gathering agencies is a fact. I shall prove it.

The lies that are being currently circulated by the Hidden Hand, for the purpose of creating confusion among gullible Gentiles, will eventually react to the destruction of the internationalists. The law of equal reaction will catch up with them in America, as in other parts of the world.

Assuming the origin of the Protocols of the Wise Men of Zion to be veiled in mystery, no one can deny that the plot which they purport to outline is being fulfilled.

Rigid control of every phase of Gentile existence is provided for in these documents, and, in this connection, much is said in them about Jewish dominance of the press channels of the world. A few quotations will suffice to illustrate the plan.

I.

Protocol Number 2 — "Through the press we have gained the power to influence, while remaining in the shade." . . . In other words, by means of the purse, the occult masters of international finance often find it convenient to work from behind Gentile fronts.

Quotation continued — "We shall deal with the press in the following way: What is the part played by the press today? It serves to excite and inflame those passions which are needed for our purpose. It is often vapid, unjust, mendacious, and the majority of the public have not the slightest idea what ends the press really serves."

. . . Until recent months, comparatively few Americans have had more than a nebulous understanding of racial control, and even now, many find it difficult to realize that such a system could exist. The magnitude of the scheme staggers their imagination. Multitudes do not know, for instance, that syndicated articles which they read in the daily papers are either written by Jews, or released at the behest of Jews.

Quotation continued — "We shall saddle and bridle it (the press) with a tight curb: We shall do the same with all productions of the printing press, for where would be the sense of getting rid of the attacks of the press if we remain targets for pamphlets and books." . . . I have before me a piece of literature put out recently by a secret Jewish organization, for circulation among their members, explaining how they have succeeded in having the word Jew expunged from press dispatches when a member of the race has become involved in anything that might give an uncomplimentary annotation.

We see the effect of this strangulation almost daily, in the use of such terms as Aryan, non-Aryan, etc. The nationality of an Irishman, a Swede, German, Japanese, or Italian, may be mentioned in the newspapers — but the term Jew must be eliminated, unless, of course, something flattering to the race is being written.

Quotation continued — "For any attempt to attack us, if such still be possible, we shall inflict fines without mercy. Such measures as stamp tax, deposit of caution money and fines secured by these deposits, will bring in a huge income to the government. It is true that party (political) organs might not share money for the sake of publicity, but these we shall shut up at the second attack upon us. No one shall with impunity lay a finger on the aureole of our government infallibility. The pretext for stopping any publication will be the alleged plea that it is agitating the public mind without occasion or justification." . . . Thus, a plan is outlined for completely gagging the public press. Shocking as it may seem to Christians and patriots at first glance, three bills were introduced into the Seventy-sixth Congress this year, containing substantially the same provisions as those embodied in the foregoing quotation from Protocol Number 2.

In each instance, severe penalties were to be exacted against those found guilty of printing and mailing "papers, pamphlets, books, pictures and writings" which, in the opinion of the Jewish control, might tend to produce "racial or religious hatred or bigotry or intolerance." Neither of these measures passed the House of Representatives, but it is a matter of grave concern to those who believe in free speech and free press, that such proposals should have even been introduced.

Quotation continued — "Not a single announcement will reach the public without our control. Even now this is already being attained by us inasmuch as all news items are received by a few agencies, in whose offices they are focused from all parts of the world. These agencies will then be already entirely ours and will give publicity only to what we dictate to them." . . . Since the news reaches all countries through a few narrow gates, the internationalists only need to exercise control at the top in order to lodge whatever ideas they may desire, in the mass mind. By consolidating and directing the outflow of press information through these channels, it is possible to regulate public reactions.

Quotation continued — "Not one journalist will venture to betray this secret, for not one of them is ever admitted to practice literature unless his whole past has some disgraceful sore or other. These sores would be immediately revealed. So long as they remain the secret of a few, the prestige of the journalist attracts the majority of the country — the mob follow after him with enthusiasm." . . . Blackmail has always been a powerful weapon in the hands of unscrupulous conspirators.

The above quotations constitute only a fraction of the material devoted to press control in the Protocols. And it should be remembered that while these documents fit the present situation perfectly, yet they first came to public notice back in the year 1901.

Although there remains a question as to the authenticity of the Protocols, yet the fact of their fulfillment is, to say the least, a stumbling block for those who try to refute them.

This is probably the time and the place, to remark that we accuse no one, no individual or organization, of being consciously a party to this alleged plot. We do not profess to know the heart-intent of any person, or persons, who may appear to be engaged in promoting a scheme similar to that described above. It is not our purpose to connect any name or publication, with the Protocols. As far as we know, no positive proof of any such alignment exists, and The Defender has no desire to do anyone an injustice.

II.

I shall relate a few personal experiences.

On April 14, 1938, American Jews,

TRUMAN'S MARCH TO THE SEA

HARRY TRUMAN'S eastward extension of America's frontier from the banks of the Potomac to the shores of the Aegean Sea in 42 days is now history.

Considered from the point of view of propaganda logistics, the campaign which put across the Truman Doctrine is a phenomenon demanding detailed study for the light it throws upon the processes of mass persuasion in the contemporary world. It affords a model of what may well be an emerging pattern of propaganda on a global scale.

Fifty years ago William Randolph Hearst sent his staff artist Remington to Cuba to cover the scheduled Spanish-American War. Remington querulously demanded to come home because there was no war. Hearst cabled "Remain where you are. You furnish the pictures and I'll furnish the war." Hearst made good his promise.

In contrast to the 19th century propagandist who felt he was doing a job when he planted an editorial in a leading journal, today's political expediter stages a riot in Arabia, a testimonial dinner in Rio, or persuades the Sultan to pass an edict in order to convince the folks at home that the legislation he desires is urgent.

But even this is an oversimplification. For large-scale propaganda is no longer the work of individuals; it is now conducted by vast teams of behind-the-scenes propagandist-expediters working in synchronized precision, as in Hitler's Germany, or in less rigid but equally effective coordination, as in the United States.

Perhaps the high-watermark of pre-war German propaganda efforts was the campaign following the famous Reichstag fire. The climax of post-war American propaganda to date was attained in the successful campaign to sell the Greek crisis. A comparison of the propaganda problems involved and of the techniques employed in solving them disclose interesting similarities, although obviously no moral analogies should be drawn. Skillful propaganda built both situations into symbols destined to become landmarks in world history.

On February 27, 1947, President Harry Truman emerged from a conference with a serious announcement. Great Britain was unable to continue the military and financial aid she had been giving Greece since 1944. The President said that the resulting crisis posed a desperate problem for U. S. policy.

Reichstag Fire

On February 27, 1933, 14 years earlier to a day, Berlin's fire companies responded to a 10-alarm blaze. The fire occurred at night, and the structure involved was the symbol of German representative government, the Reichstag.

When Reichsmarshal Hermann Goering issued the final order for the burning of Germany's Reichstag, the Nazi world blueprint was virtually complete. The dominant cartelists and land-owners were terrified at the uncertainties produced by mass struggles for control of Germany and were desperately eager to resume the march toward their place in the sun, a march which under the Kaiser had been auspiciously begun but lamentably interrupted. The projected program for the attainment of their goal demanded first passive and then active resistance to Woodrow Wilson's League of Nations, "the democratic debating society by which the victorious Allies of World War I had implemented Germany's subjection." It also demanded the complete eradication of critical opinion, every manifestation of which was termed Jewish Bolshevism. The master-plan called for a renaissance of blood-and-iron and an implacable imperialism.

Obviously the masses of Germans, the last war still fresh in their minds, were not wholly ready for such a program; they needed to be "educated." Propaganda symbols were required which would be capable of convincing the Germans, still wedded to constitutional ideas of government, that drastic steps were necessary for the national security. The Reichstag fire was utilized as one of a series of such symbols.

Situation In U. S.

When his Excellency Lord Inverchapel, the British Ambassador to Washington, handed a note to Secretary of State George C. Marshall, advising him that England's fling in Greece was finished, U. S. foreign policy was crystallizing. The dominant American economic groups in control of communications media had waged a 20-months propaganda campaign aimed first at dominating, and later, when that no longer appeared feasible, at by-passing the United Nations Organization.

Official and unofficial spokesmen for the ideas of these groups—men like Senator Arthur Vandenberg, John Foster Dulles, Herbert Hoover, Henry R. Luce, Winston Churchill—favored policies which would build a cordon sanitaire around the Soviet Union and block effective cooperation between Capitalism and Communism.

As befits ideological spokesmen, they dressed these ideas in flowery language replete with high moral concepts. America's aim became, in their parlance, not to exploit but merely to spread the obviously superior American concepts of freedom of enterprise, democracy, and good-will.

Yet for even so obviously mild and benevolent a program the American people had been inadequately prepared. There persisted a deeply-rooted American prejudice that to meddle in the affairs of a foreign country at all was un-American. Tolerance toward Russia had been augmented by the war, in which the Soviet Union had proved a powerful ally, suffering 15 million casualties. During the war Russian soldiers and civilians had been relatively sympathetically portrayed in the American press. Millions of Americans had come to feel that it was possible to live in the same world with the Russians without fighting them.

American domestic propaganda since June 1945 has concentrated itself intensively upon the correction of this notion.

By February 1947 remarkable headway had been made in this campaign. A few final whacks were needed to get the horse over the hill. The Greek crisis is a propaganda symbol that has been of decisive assistance in this consummation.

BEWARE!! POISON!!!

While you spend your pennies for its funnies, pictures and features, here is what the New York DAILY NEWS and its publisher, Joseph Patterson, are doing to you:

IF YOU ARE A WOMAN you are told you are chiefly useful for breeding purposes. The assumption is that you mustn't think for yourself, mustn't do anything men do, that you need only stay quiet and have babies! Says Das Daily News: "Women's prime function in relation to war is to produce children so that the supply of men for fighting purposes can be kept up to par." That's pure Hitler stuff!

IF YOU ARE A WORKING MAN OR WOMAN: Even if you are working 60 or 70 hours a week the Daily News tells you that you have no business getting overtime pay! It never has a friendly word to say for unions, and attacks the President's wife for refusing to cross a picket line. Yet it goes along with labor-hating organizations with billions of dollars behind them.

IF YOU ARE IN THE FIGHTING FORCES the Daily News cheers you on with these words: "We assume that this war will end some day—perhaps even in our lifetime, who knows?"

IF YOU ARE AN AIR RAID WARDEN: The Daily News recognizes your efforts by referring editorially to "air raid warden officiousness." It thinks "this air-raid business" leads to "public irritation." Don't worry, it tells its readers, Hitler won't bomb New York.

IF YOU ARE A CATHOLIC OR A JEW you should be warned that Joseph Patterson is a defender of people like William Dudley Pelley, notorious anti-Semite now imprisoned for sedition, and Catholic-hater Edward James Smythe, indicted by a federal grand jury for under-
